Our Process

Congratulations on completing the acquisition of your company.

From this point forward, you are no longer responsible for any of the debts, liabilities, or creditor communication related to your previous company.

This guide explains the step-by-step process to follow after your company ("Oldco") has been acquired, creating a new trading entity ("Newco").

Following this protocol will:

- Protect your new business operations
- Ensure legal compliance
- Smoothly transition all matters from Oldco to Newco

The result:

- You do not need to speak to any creditor again. We are the only point of contact

You are free to focus entirely on your new company (NewCo) — Clean, Compliant and Protected.

We are here 24/7, via WhatsApp and our legal support channels, to manage any issues that may arise.

Please read through the manual carefully and follow the steps. If in doubt, just reach out to us — we're always one message away.

Premisis & Occupation

Goals: Prevent Confusion, Protect Newco's assets, and demonstrate clear separation from Oldco.

Steps:

- Remove Oldco Branding – take down all signs, logos, stationery, or materials with Oldco's name.
- Showcase Newco – put up Newco signage at entrances/reception; ensure lease/ licence is in Newco's name.
- Clearly display a notice confirming that [OldCo Name], now renamed [New Name], no longer operates from the premises. Direct all inquiries to the new address provided.
- Update Utilities & Services – move bills, suppliers, and service accounts into Newco's name.
- Notify Security/Reception – confirm Oldco no longer operates at the premises.

Why it matters?

UK law prevents bailiffs from seizing third-party goods. Clear proof that assets belong to Newco avoids wrongful distraint.

Transition of Assets & Rewards

Goal #1:

Assets: Value and hand over Oldco's Assets

Goal #2:

Records: Gather all records of Oldco

Goal #3:

Avoid: Avoid undervalue transactions

Assets:

- Value Oldco's remaining assets.
- Assets over £10,000 require professional valuation and sale agreement.
- Document all transfers (invoices, sale contracts, payment records).
- Remove or tag assets once purchased by Newco.

Records:
Gather and hand over oldco's:

- Statutory books
- Financial records (accounts, invoices, statements)
- Tax records (VAT, PAYE, HMRC correspondence)
- Contracts, leases, legal docs
- Employee & creditor records

⚠ Avoid "transactions at undervalue"

– these can be reversed under insolvency law.
